

Dear Vicki and Jim,

I just got home from the Swedish class so will write to you. Dad is reading the Swedish newspaper that a man in my class brings to me.

Probably you have heard from Gail now as she planned to write and tell you about the change in their plans. Guyon & Gregg will be getting his leave after all and is due home this Wednesday. Gail had practically moved out from her apartment when she had a telephone call from Gregg that he would be arriving Wednesday, so she had to carry everything back in again. They will be living in North Carolina after all so you will probably see them. Gail is really excited about it.

Last Friday eve had the luncheon at Jarvis to announce who was pregnant. No one knew so all of us went with a pillow stuffed in front. Even little Leslie came fixed up. Then I said "well the real expectant mother please stand up." to Every one stood up and I went over and pinned a pair of booties on Sandi. Every one was surprised as no one thought it would be Sandi. They thought it was either Mary or Patti. There were nine of us plus seven little children. Dick has been out of town and when he come back from his last trip he brought Sandi a statue of Uncle Sam standing on a platform and he is pointing his finger out, and on the platform or base is written - "Did you forget to take your pill today". Sandi brought it to the lumbermen to show us and every one had a good time.

We plan to go up to the cabin this week end. We haven't been up for awhile. Joni Carlson and her girl friend were up there this past week end.

Mary has gone back to work but only for Mondays and Tuesdays.

She is taking a course at the U. of C. on Wednesday nights. It is about the Difference in People.

We haven't caught the Mole yet in our back yard altho the trap is set. The Mole is tearing up the whole yard.

I hope the weather there will cool off soon. It rained all day today here but I stayed home and studied Adverbs and Ajectives in Swedish.

I hope Viki, you are getting along fine in school.

We are really looking forward to seeing you in November and that isn't too far away now.

Love,
Mom

P.S. I just saw in the paper that the temperature there was  $68^{\circ}$  so that is much better.
